A NEW ERA OF HUMAN RESTORATION

Introduction

Humanity has long been interested in prolonging life and improving its quality.

Today, we are pleased to introduce an innovative wellness capsule that combines modern body restoration technologies, breathing techniques, and neurorelaxation in a single space.

The Revique HaloXL Longevity Capsule is a next-generation recovery and longevity platform that brings together advanced wellness technologies in one immersive, capsule-based experience.

Designed to support respiratory health, cellular regeneration, nervous system balance, and deep relaxation, it represents a holistic approach to modern longevity and recovery.

By combining salt therapy, 360° red and infrared light, oxygen-enhanced aromatherapy, neuro-relaxation, and AI-driven personalization, the capsule creates a synchronized environment that works on both the body and the mind.

ABOUT

Application

WHO IT'S FOR

Developed for premium wellness centers, medical spas, luxury hotels, and biohacking clinics, the ReviQue HaloXL Longevity Capsule by Vacuactivus offers a unique fusion of science, design, and technology — delivering an elevated recovery experience that fits the future of wellness.

The ReviQue HaloXL™ Capsule integrates multiple advanced wellness technologies into one coherent longevity ecosystem, designed to work synergistically rather than separately.

Each session is designed to gently guide the user into a state of restoration, helping to reduce stress, improve breathing quality, and support overall vitality.

Halo Therapy & Respiratory Recovery

TECHNOLOGIE
DESCRIPTION

As you settle deeper, a guided respiratory wellness experience begins through advanced halo therapy.

A fine mineral-rich salt mist — created from Himalayan and Dead Sea salts — gently fills the capsule. This therapeutic aerosol penetrates deep into the respiratory system, helping cleanse airways and support lung function.

Inspired by traditional salt cave therapy, this modern approach supports easier breathing, reduces inflammation, and promotes respiratory recovery.

Zero Gravity Relaxation

TECHNOLOGIE DESCRIPTION

Your body is gently positioned in a zero-gravity posture, where your legs are elevated at the same level as your heart. A modern ergonomic couch with premium leather automatically adjusts to support this position.

This posture reduces pressure on the spine, improves circulation, and allows blood to flow more efficiently back to the heart. As a result, muscle tension decreases and the cardiovascular system relaxes.

The soft massage surface enhances the experience, helping your body enter a deeper state of physical relaxation and recovery.

Caracalla Halo Experience

TECHNOLOGIE DESCRIPTION

This experience is inspired by ancient Roman wellness traditions, including the Baths of Caracalla and mineral steam practices.

Historically, mineral-rich water was passed through natural elements like tree branches before becoming therapeutic steam. This process was believed to enhance its restorative properties.

In the HaloXL capsule, this concept is recreated using a modern generator that infuses wet salt mist through natural elements, delivering a unique mineral-rich respiratory and recovery experience.

Neuro Relaxation & Star Light Therapy

Look above you... the ceiling transforms into a field of soft, glowing stars, simulating the calm of a clear night sky.

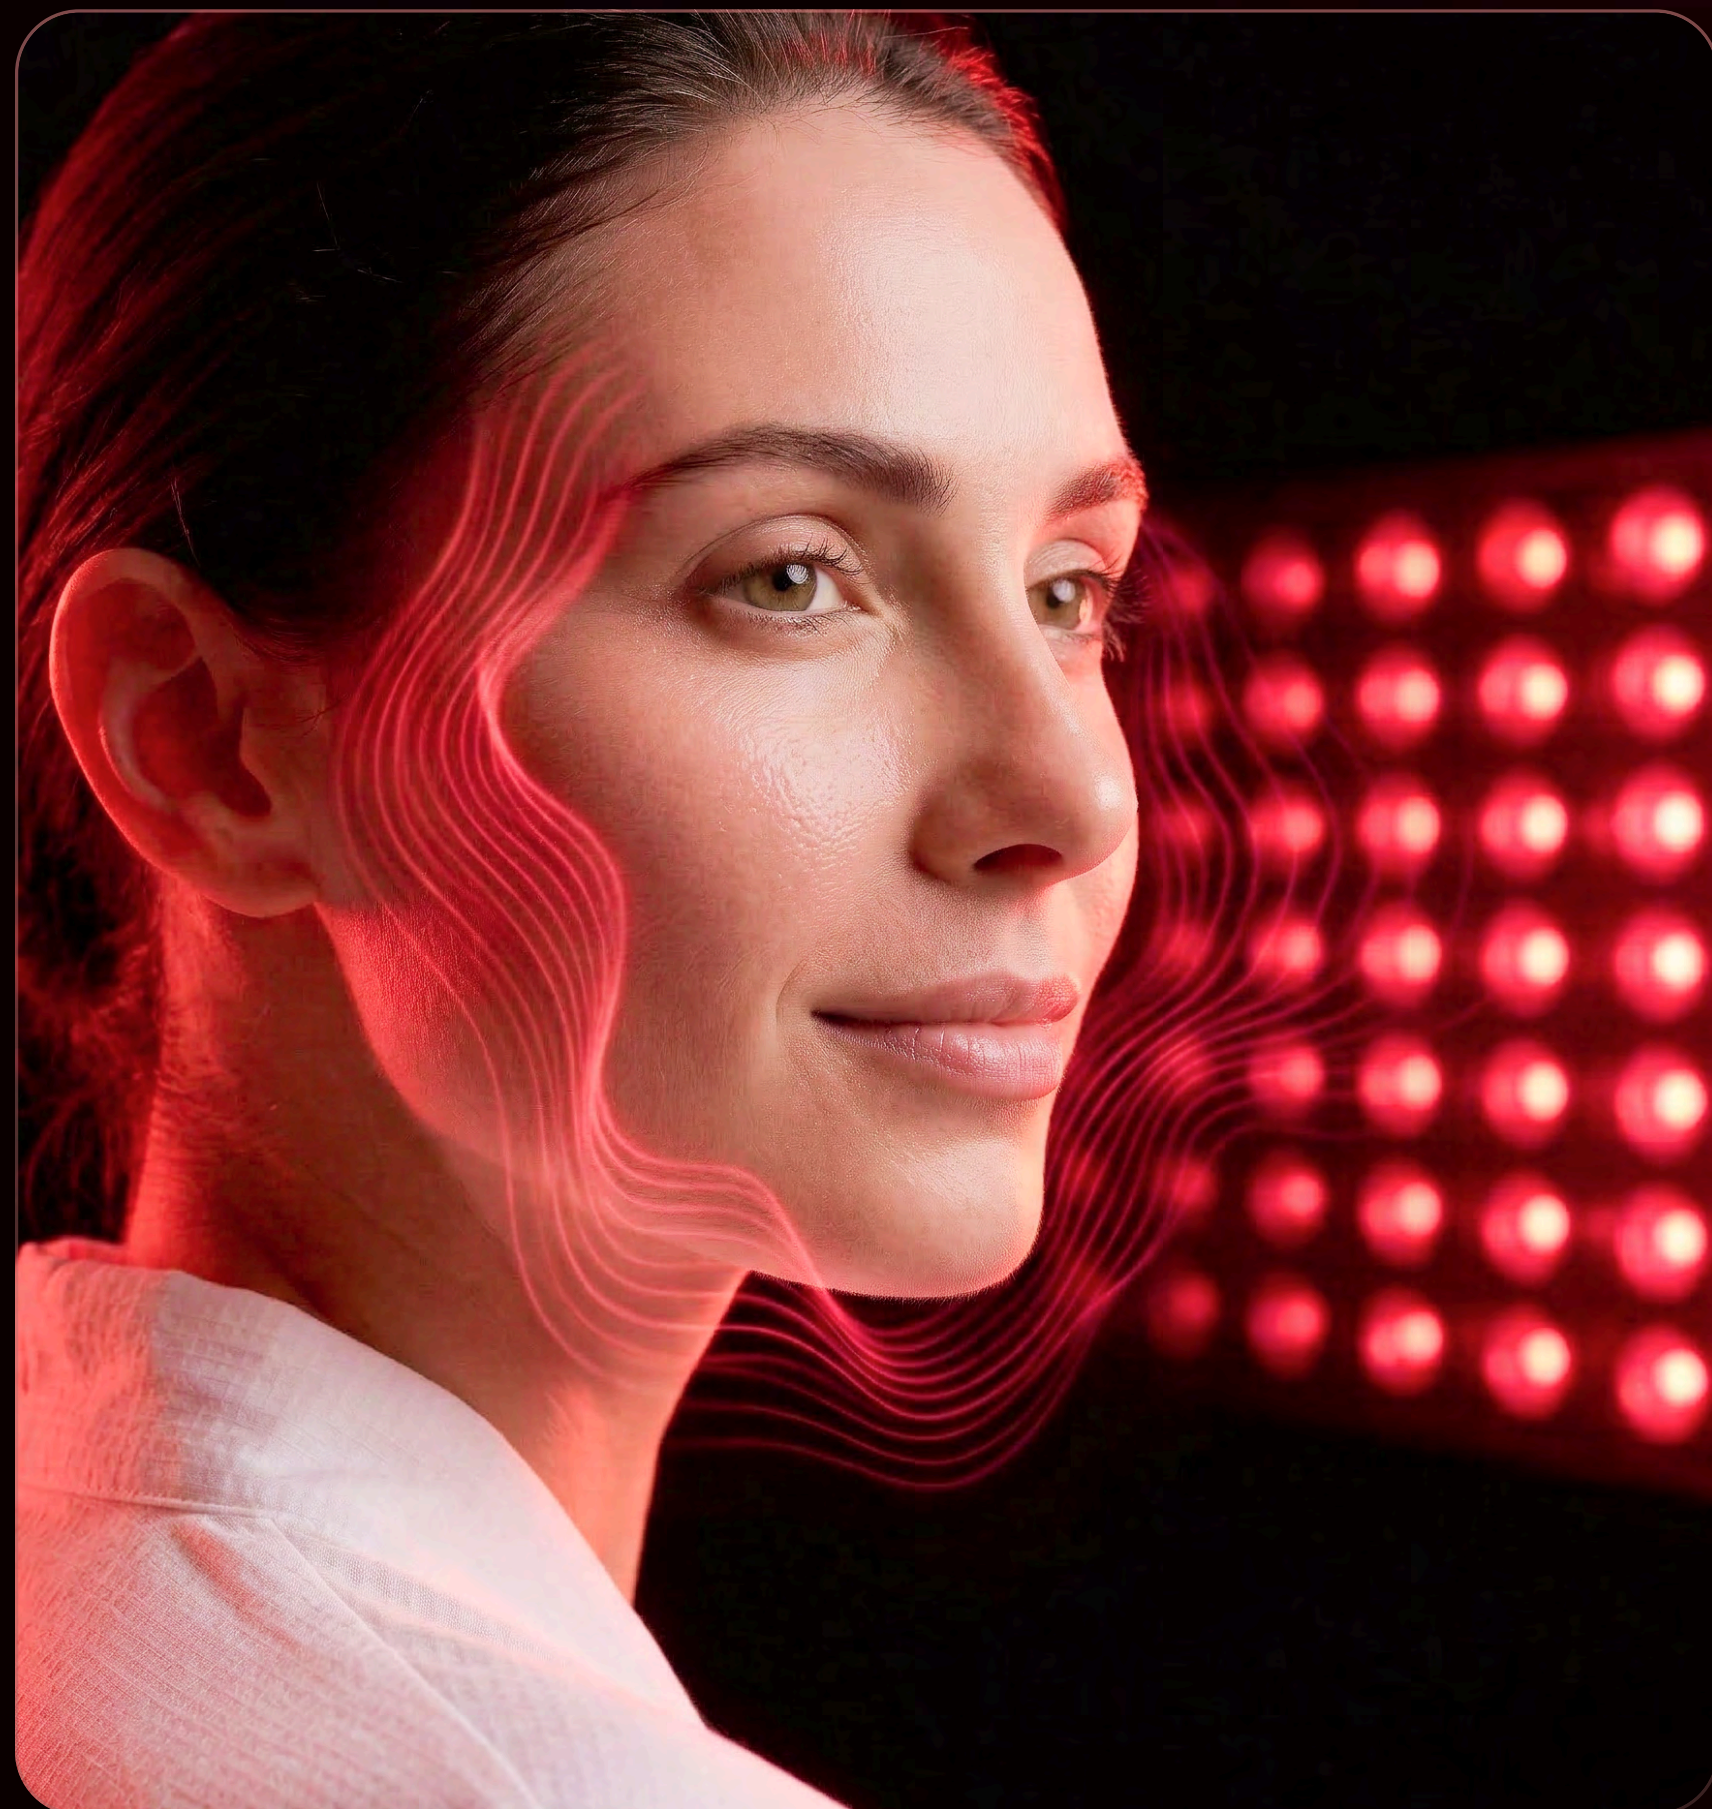

This visual therapy helps reduce mental stress, quiet cognitive activity, and guide the brain into a meditative, relaxed state. It supports emotional balance and neurological recovery.

As your focus softens, your mind begins to drift — creating a deep sense of calm and mental reset.

TECHNOLOGIE DESCRIPTION

Red & Infrared Light Therapy

Above you, advanced red and near-infrared light therapy begins to activate.

Different wavelengths penetrate the body at varying depths. Visible red light around 630–660 nm supports skin rejuvenation and collagen production, while near-infrared light at 810–850 nm reaches deeper tissues, helping reduce inflammation and support cellular repair.

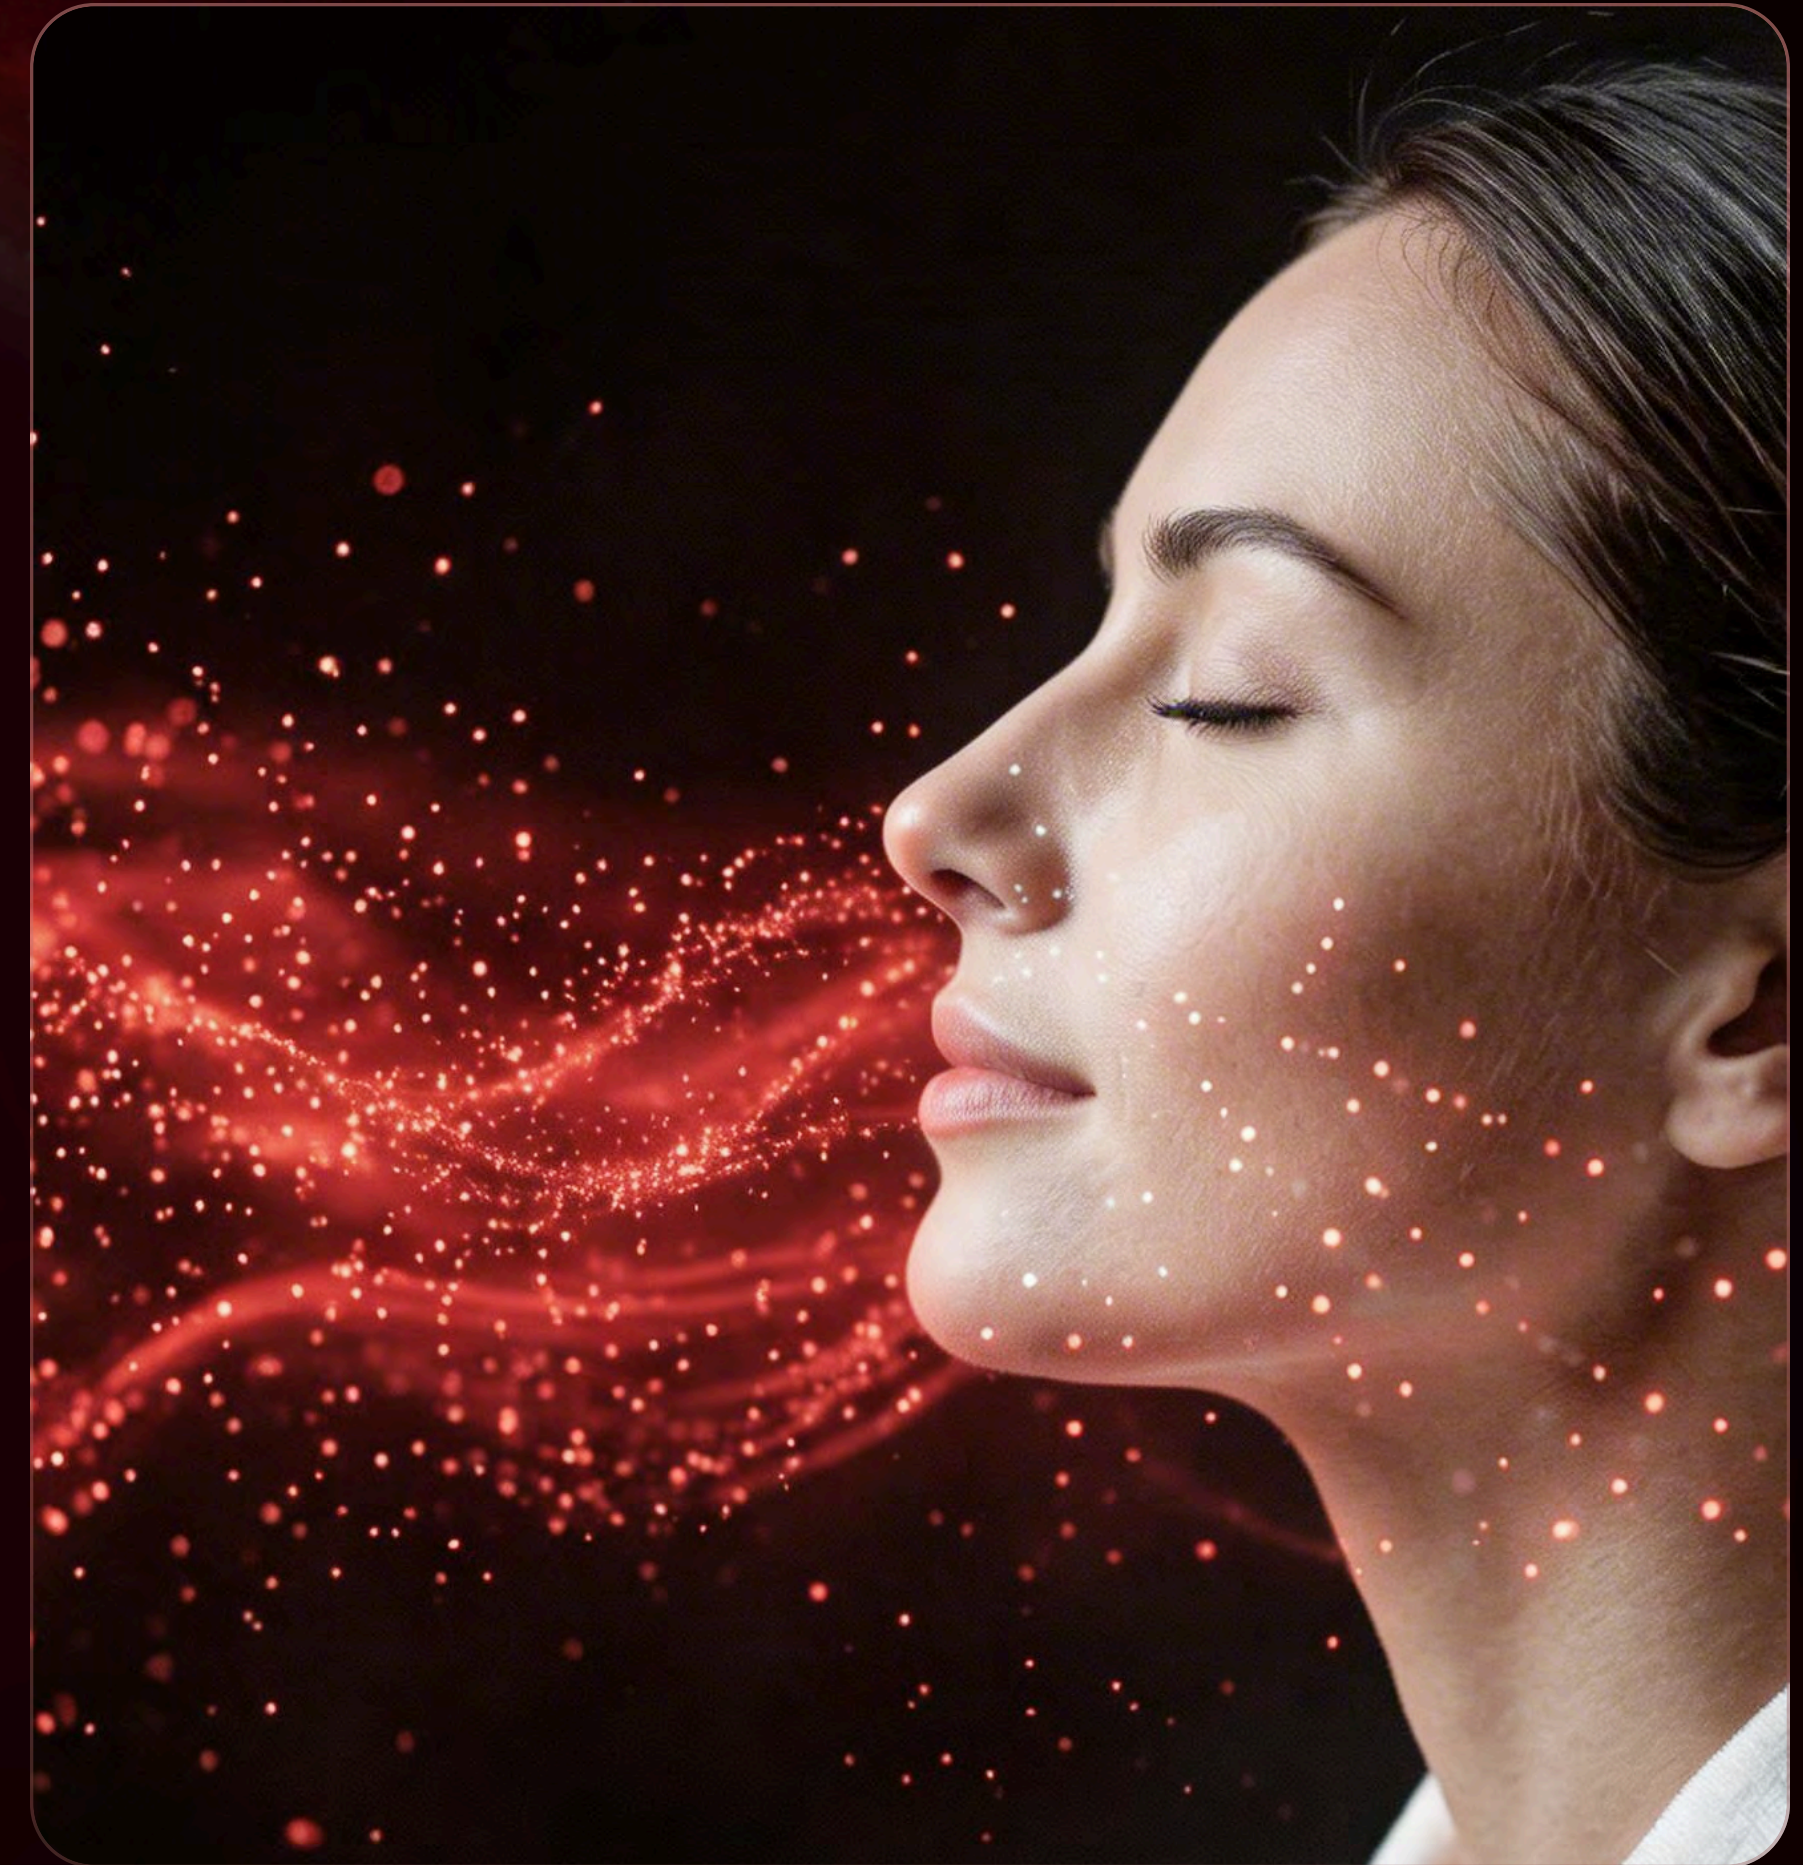

This technology works by stimulating cellular energy processes (ATP production), improving circulation, and enhancing recovery. Originally explored in early phototherapy research and later advanced by NASA, it is now widely used for regeneration and performance recovery.

Ionized Air & Ozone Freshness

You may notice a refreshing quality in the air – similar to the atmosphere after rain or near ocean waves.

The capsule generates negatively charged ions, commonly found in natural environments like waterfalls and forests. These ions help improve air quality and support respiratory function.

This environment may enhance mood, increase oxygen absorption, and create a feeling of clarity and freshness throughout the session.

Dry Air Contrast Therapy

TECHNOLOGIE DESCRIPTION

The capsule combines controlled infrared heat (up to +45°C / 113°F) with invigorating cold air exposure (down to -20°C / -4°F), creating a dynamic contrast therapy experience.

Heat promotes vasodilation, muscle relaxation, and improved circulation, while cold exposure stimulates vasoconstriction, nervous system activation, and metabolic response.

This alternating thermal stimulus supports recovery, resilience, and overall physiological adaptation, creating a powerful full-body revitalization effect.

AI Voice & Frequency Therapy

TECHNOLOGIE DESCRIPTION

The system features an immersive AI-guided voice experience combined with calming sound frequencies, including 777 Hz and 999 Hz, during each session.

This multisensory approach helps reduce mental overload, regulate the nervous system, and guide the brain into deeper relaxation states.

By combining voice, sound, and sensory isolation, the experience supports stress reduction, emotional reset, and mind-body recovery.

Lavender Aroma Relaxation

TECHNOLOGIE DESCRIPTION

A gentle lavender aroma is diffused throughout the session, enhancing the overall sensory experience.

Lavender is widely known for its calming properties, helping reduce stress, support emotional balance, and promote relaxation.

This subtle aromatic layer helps the body and mind transition into a more restful and restorative state.
